Hancock officials criticize lack of state, federal help

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors are fed up with state and federal ignorance of local emergency needs resulting from recent natural disasters.

A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, board president and District Two supervisor, and Walter Gex, board attorney, expressed those feelings at a Thursday meeting. The officials were specifically referring to a lack of outside government assistance after a freak January winter storm destroyed or damaged most of the Hancock commercial fishing fleet docked at the low-lying Bayou Cadet Marina and the recent Pearl River flooding of homes in Pearlington.

Gov. William Winter recently declared counties flooded by the Pearl a disaster area.

But consideration for disaster relief funds will not begin at least until the Pearlington flood waters subside and the damage can be assessed, Robert Boudin, Hancock Civil Defense director, told the supervisors.

In addition, Roger Dale Ladner, District Three supervisor, and Bert Courge, District One supervisor, both reported rains during the last two weeks washed out several county roads.

The supervisors also said they have met or exceeded legally limited quotas for clay gravel to repair the washed out roads.

Jim Pfeiffer, assistant board secretary, Friday explained a 1970 state law limits each supervisor to spend not more than $250 monthly per dirt hauler for material such as sand and gravel.

He noted Courge exceeded the limit to provide fill for sandbags protecting homes in the flooded Pearlington area.

Courge at the meeting stated, "We bagged 9,000 sandbags and utilized $1,500 worth of plastic."

The board approved those expenditures and declared an emergency based on the record Pearlington flooding.

Pearlington residents call meeting

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Concerned citizens of Pearlington will hold a public meeting Friday, April 22, 7 p.m. at the Community Center to discuss emergency plans in case of a disaster.

The recent flooding of Pearl River is one of the main reasons for this special meeting, according to a spokesman for the group.

An initial meeting was held involving 12 residents of Pearlington on Friday. The group feels many concrete plans should be developed in case of another emergency such as a hurricane or flood.

All citizens of Pearlington are urged to attend.

Trash dumping on increase in Hancock

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Persons illegally dumping trash in unauthorized areas of Hancock County will be issued citations, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson on Friday said, "This week we received six calls from residents reporting trash and garbage being dumped in unauthorized areas. Our investigation revealed the names of two violators. They were forced to do a cleanup job."

"Deputies have been instructed to issue citations on future violators. Trash and debris should be dumped only at the designated dump," Peterson added.

Antique tour train owner eyeing Port Bienville site

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Owner of an antique, coal-fired, steam-driven locomotive with passenger cars is interested in basing operations of the excursion train at the Port Bienville Industrial Park on its short line railroad.

James DeBlanc, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission executive director, at a Thursday night meeting revealed J.V. Cannon of Hattiesburg, Mississippi Railway and Transportation Museum president, is interested in basing his recreational train at the Port Industrial Park.

DeBlanc said Cannon plans to draw riders from the tourists attending the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans.

The commission director explained Cannon will first offer short one-hour excursions along the nine-mile Port Bienville Short Line Railroad line, then after about two years expand operations to include trips from Gulfport to New Orleans along the Seaboard System Railroad tracks.

The train will only operate on weekends and not interfere with commercial rail traffic, DeBlanc emphasized.

DeBlanc reported the antique train consists of a restored eight-wheel-drive locomotive with a coal car and three refurbished antique coaches.

He did not know the make of the locomotive, but said the train is the type taken out of service when railroads converted to diesel engines in the early 1940's.

Cannon also plans to eventually build a terminal at the east end of the industrial park and a side spur to park the train off the port's main railroad track, DeBlanc said.

Until the spur is constructed, the train will be parked out away from industrial traffic at the end of a tall track

Bennett, Murray seek indictment dismissals

Circuit Court Judge James Thomas is reviewing demurrers submitted by attorneys representing Mayor Larry Bennett and Donn Murray, both of Bay St. Louis, requesting indictments against them be dropped.

The defense attorneys claim the recent Hancock County Grand Jury indictments on fraud and conspiracy charges are faulty.

Thomas Thursday agreed to render a decision by the end of April.

Bennett is accused of using labor and materials from a street project for work on his home during the summer of 1978. He also is charged with conspiring with Murray to perform the work and represent it as authorized expenditures for city construction.

Joe Sam Owen, representing Bennett, and Aaron Adams, representing Murray said state statute of limitations require a person be prosecuted within two years of committing such an alleged crime.

Owen said the conspiracy indictment against Bennett states that Murray obtained the services of a carpenter and had those services and materials charged to the city, with no allegations that Larry Bennett knew this was false, participated or had anything to do with it.

Besides arguing the conspiracy indictment against Murray also violates the statute of limitations, Adams said it was faulty in other ways.

"The indictment does not describe to whom he made false representation, how he did, whether there was knowledge of falsity, that designed any instrument or obtained anything... or that the property was entrusted to Murray's care," Adams said.

Assistant District Attorney John C. Johnson said he had been "bombarded by lawyers" and asked Thomas to allow the state time to prepare a legal response to the arguments.

"The indictment was properly drawn," Johnson added.

VICTORIOUS BAND—Tim Adam, drum major of Bay Senior High's Tiger Pride gets a big hug from his mother Carolyn Adam as they arrive at the Waveland Resort Inn Thursday evening after capturing all superiors in state contest. A motorcade met the victorious Tiger Pride and Glen Page, right, joined the drum major for a convertible ride into town with Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett chauffeuring. Albert Walker is the bus driver. The motorcade of Tiger Pride supporters was led by patrol cars from Hancock County Sheriff's Department as well as Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments. FIREARMS INSTRUCTORS—Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, right, congratulates Eddie Jennings, center, and David Garcia, Hancock County deputies, on completing a one-week course on Police Firearms Instructor Development conducted by The National Rifle Association of America. The 40-hours of schooling was sponsored by the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy. Peterson said, "Both Garcia and Jennings are now qualified to instruct members of our department to be firearms instructors. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

PORT BIENVILLE CHOO-CHOO?—An eight-wheel-drive coal-burn steam engine with a coal car and three passenger coaches now stored in Jackson and owned by J.V. Cannon of Hattiesburg, Mississippi Railway and Transportation Museum president, may soon be based at Port Bienville Industrial Park as a weekend excursion train in conjunction with the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Railroad Committee is now studying the feasibility of Cannon leasing a portion of the Port Bienville Short Line Railroad to park and operate the large antique.

raints in Jackson Wednesday are expected to soon move downstream to again inundate Pearlinton.

Keller, regarding the lack of federal and state assistance, complained, "We've had $30,000 bridges wash out and we didn't get a dime. I'm tired of sending in these reports and getting nothing."

Gex noted federally-declared national disasters are only sanctioned after millions of dollars in damage occurs.

As an example of local losses he stated, "If there is a flood which destroys my home, to me that's the biggest (expletive deleted) disaster in the world, but you can't convince the people in Jackson of that."

"I'm telling you, I made phone calls and couldn't get the man in Jackson to make a determination (of damages for federal relief), he reported.

"People are tired of getting all excited (about possible federal relief) and get nothing," he added.

Courrage speculated the county might receive assistance in light of Winter's disaster declaration.

Boudin reported he has not received any reports of personal damage resulting from the Pearlinton flood, but needs this information to obtain assistance.

He also urged all veterans with children who do not have funds to repair flooded homes to contact John Wilkerson of American Legion Post No. 139 for financial assistance.

Wilkerson Friday stated, "Veterans can contact me at 467-6098 for information about forms to receive assistance through our post."

He said there is no guarantee the funds will be provided.

Wilkerson added the assistance is available through the Child Welfare Fund of American Legion National Headquarters.

Mike Ladner, Hancock veterans service officer, Friday emphasized veterans should not telephone his office for the American Legion funds.

Courrage at the Thursday meeting praised local officials, County Jail trustees, the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department and International Paper Co. for their assistance in Pearlinton.

At the urging of Courrage, the board unanimously approved a resolution commending International Paper for its assistance in providing a "40,000" truck three days to deliver sandbags to Pearlinton homes.

engine buff. He's funding this through appeals, memberships and gifts."

"It's a pretty big steam engine. He just wants to operate it as a novelty," Gibson reported.

The commissioner said a 'low priority contract' would be negotiated so Cannon's train would not interfere with industrial rail traffic.

"One strong point is we would have a backup engine," Gibson said humorously in light of recent mechanical problems with the port's railroad engine.

DeBlanc said based on computations by Woody Steiffel, commission engineer technician, Cannon should be charged $4,125 monthly for his share of rail maintenance and a $74 monthly storage fee.

Ronald Artigues, a commissioner, laughed at the proposal and said it was probably too costly.

But the director said Cannon is agreeable to the charges, but asks the maintenance fee be reduced to $1,500 for the first three months.

The committee members, also consisting of Harry Baxter and Bully Zengering, agreed to meet at 2 p.m. Friday to further study the proposal.

DeBlanc said just after the commission meeting the train is presently in storage in Jackson.

Cooking Up A Storm By Katy McGuire Caire

Cucumbers, fresh or pickled, have been a delicious and staple vegetable since earliest times, familiar to the ancient Romans, the Greeks, the Indians as far back as 4,000 years ago, and grown in France, England and elsewhere many centuries ago.

Somewhere I've read that Christopher Columbus grew cucumbers in Haiti, and that the "cukes" were later brought to the mainland of North America, where the early colonists soon learned to enjoy them.

And— if you think of cucumbers as just another salad ingredient, you should try them sliced and braised in a little butter and chicken stock or bouillon, or baked, stuffed with crumbs and chopped ham and cheese, or as an hors d'oeuvre, made up into bite-size sandwiches, with the bread barely spread with butter, topped with chopped dill or mint, and so on.

For salad, I like to slice cucumbers wafer-thin, almost shredding them, then drain and marinate in a french dressing of two parts olive oil and one part white wine vinegar, well peppered and lightly salted, and sprinkled with chopped dill for fresh chopped parsley.

I also like to slice the "cuke" quite thin, but the slices in a glass bowl, douse with salt and cover with ice cubes. Let stand a few hours, and if it's too salty, just wipe off some of the salt.

Then I give them a quick squeeze, so that they won't be watery, and top the slices with dollops of sour cream, and dust generously with black pepper. They're really crisp when done this way, and will even stay so for a few days in the refrigerator.

And, here's a delicious cold sauce for broiled chicken, fish or shrimp. Here's:

CUCUMBER SAUCE

3 large onions, the purple Italian variety, preferably.

1 cucumber

Bread crumbs as needed

French dressing

Slice the onions very thin, same for the cucumber. Place a layer of bread crumbs in the bottom of a glass bowl or dish, then a layer of onions, then another layer of crumbs, then a layer of cucumbers.

Repeat until you have filled the bowl. Chill thoroughly, and drizzle French dressing over the whole business about a half hour before serving.

Bermuda onions may also be used, and often I substitute green onions or just the little white onions, just any onion on hand.

Waveland: Mon-Sat. 9-9; Sun. 9-4

Quotables by Cuevas

Yesterday was the opening day for baseball in Waveland, and even though it was a bit on the chilly side, some 250 young boys and girls all seemed real excited about the coming season.

We are very glad to see so many concerned persons who dedicate time and effort in helping make the baseball programs successful in Waveland, just as well as in Bay St. Louis and in Hancock County.

We sure hope everyone will use extreme caution in driving when they are in the vicinity of ball fields.

Persons with a little time on their hands can also enjoy some fine hours watching the youngsters play, and remember, admission is free.

We hope to see you at the ball games.

Two very concerned ladies of Bay St. Louis recently spent some time on US-90 collecting for the Mississippi Burn Center.

They were Anne Peneguy and Ursula Favre, with Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana reporting they collected some $230 in cash.

We would like to compliment these two fine ladies for taking their off-time and helping a very worthy cause. Oh Yes! Thanks to those who made donations.

The month of April has been designated as American Red Cross month for Hancock County.

President Ronald Reagan has also designated April Nationwide as American Red Cross month.

The Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross is very active, as a matter of fact, the organization is right now offering assistance to persons suffering damages caused by the recent flooding of Pearl River.

During the sudden storm in January, Robert Clark, chairman of disaster services reports some $20,000 were spent in our county.

If we go back a few years, in the aftermath of Hurricane Camille, some $2.2 million was spent by the American Red Cross in Hancock County.

Persons interested in working and or joining the local chapter of the Red Cross, can call Mrs. Thelma Kergosier at 467-4071, or Mrs. Geraldine Lang at 467-9586.

The Red Cross consists of many volunteers, and there are so many types of assistances performed by the organization. They have a job which would fit just about any resident's capabilities, large and small.

We are members of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and hope you will also join.

This is just a reminder about the Blood Drawing Sponsored by the students of Hancock North Central tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the school's gym.

The drawing is open for persons of all ages from 17-years-old up and we hope there will be many volunteers.

The People's Business

Mississippi Economic Council

NEW MONEY FROM OLD SOURCES

With state finances in a precarious position, the Mississippi Legislature is faced with the responsibility of balancing a state budget already plagued by increased operating expenses and lagging revenues.

Legislative leaders have said that they have cut expenses to the bone. That may be true for some state agency budgets. If lawmakers want to find new money, they only need to turn to some old sources — mainly the state-authorized spending habits of local government.

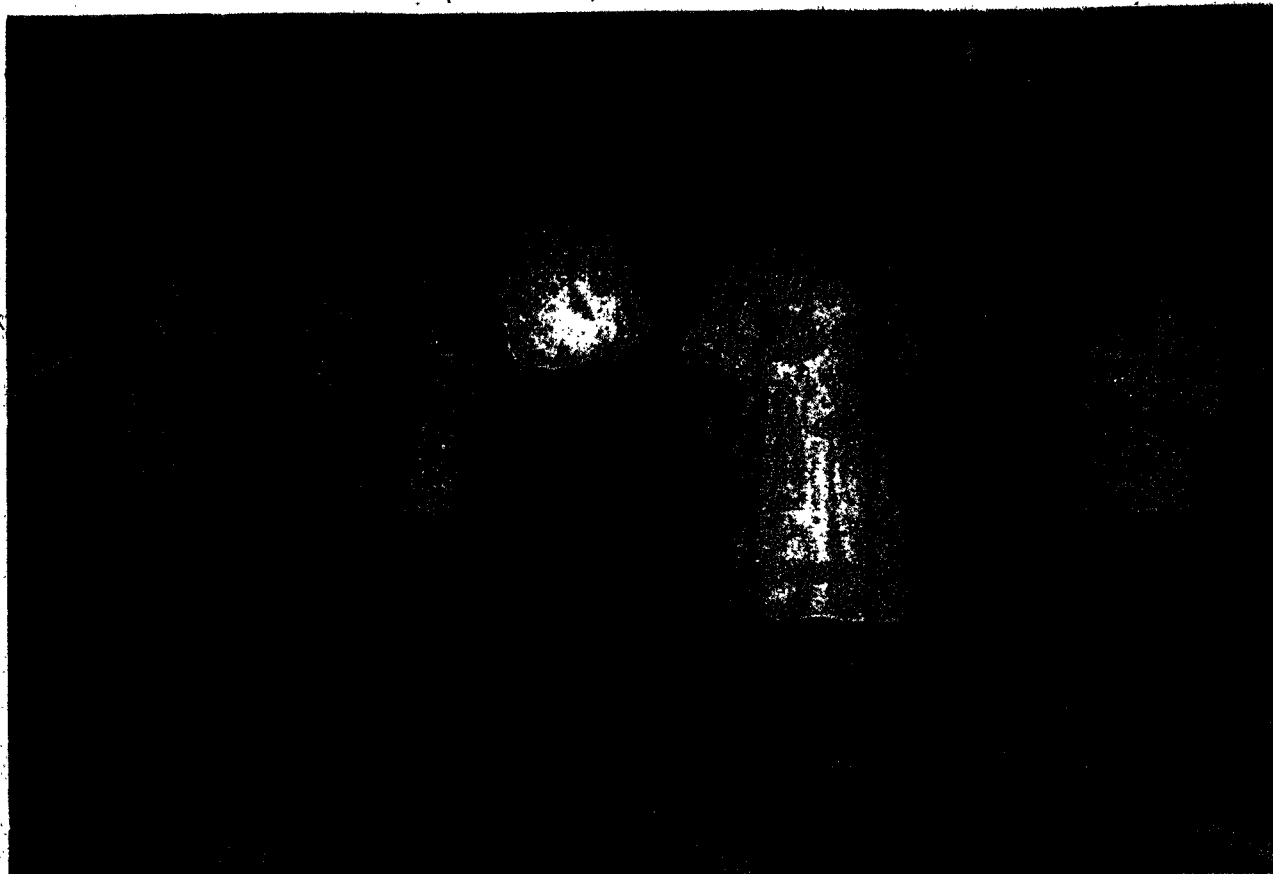

In a number of areas the state provides funding for local government programs that remain virtually untouched by all the budget-cutting talk. And in other areas, the state continues to permit local governments to waste tax dollars on inefficient programs and outdated spending habits.

For one thing, the vast majority of Mississippi's 82 counties still cling to the beat system of road management. This means that each supervisor's district maintains its own road department, creating a duplication of services and expenditures, and wasting tax dollars. The Legislature, if it really wanted to hold the line on spending, should mandate the county unit system throughout the state.

Local governments don't provide an equitable share of financing for local school systems. Because of the relatively small level of local funding of the schools, the state must make up the rest of the money to preserve an acceptable level of support for public education. The time-honored State Aid Road System also is a potential source of state savings, with millions of taxpayers' dollars being spent annually on projects of dubious necessity.

These are but a few of the areas where lawmakers could look to shore up state finances. No doubt they could find others.

All members of the Tiger Pride are to be commended for their fine performance. We know band director Glen Page really put the members through a lot of practice in recent weeks. We know the band appreciates the support of everyone, and we offer them our congratulations. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Taxpayer dollars wasted in separate county road maintenance systems

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

I am a native Mississippian. My relatives are the Manuels, Wetzels, Hutchinsons and Desportes, so I do not voice my opinion as an "outsider" but as a retiree interested in the welfare of Hancock County and Diamondhead.

We are not all rich and must be concerned with taxation and county efficiency.

We don't need 410 separate road systems in our state, we need only one in each county, therefore the beat system of supervisors should be replaced with the Unit System which will effect a drastic saving of tax dollars and eliminate much duplication of effort.

Our supervisors are honorable men but the system under which they function is hopelessly obsolete!

Why have five purchasing agents, when one can command much better prices?

Why have five sets of repair yards and machinery when a central unit would be much more efficient?

Coahoma County has the unit system. Compare spending with counties under the beat system.

The first figures are for Coahoma: fuel $66,636 vs $246,973; in-house repairs $92,822 vs $116,932; outside repairs $14,865 vs $253,213; equipment $239,920 vs $425,177; tires $21,566 vs $69,225.

The massive saving of tax money is plainly apparent so ask your supervisor to have the board approve the County Unit System.

Clermont residents concerned over potential hazards of rail crossing

Attn: To Whomever this may concern

Sir:

After seeing several trucks hang up on the railroad crossing at the Clermont Harbor crossing, I, one of concerned permanent residents, feel it is time to take action to prevent a terrible accident in our community.

Yesterday's incident of Saturday, April 9 an Allied Moving van hanging up on the Clermont Harbor crossing at 5:25 p.m. and unable to remove itself without the help of a wrecker, and a train due to pass through at 5:45 p.m., was very alarming.

This is one of several related incidents at this crossing in the past couple of months.

There are two business locations on each corner of Clermont Boulevard close to the tracks, who have gasoline pumps and sell gas.

There are also homes along both sides of the tracks.

What if a train was on this side of Waveland Avenue on Lakeshore crossing, and the train was unable to stop or be warned, and a large vehicle happened to be stuck on this crossing?

Right, pile up into the vehicle. What if impact should cause derailment of cars on the train, especially if some of the cars are carrying poisonous chemicals?

Right, our homes and the two businesses would be damaged or lost.

We do not wish to end up like several communities in Louisiana, having to evacuate, or lose our homes because of someone else's mistakes.

We the people of Clermont Harbor, strongly suggest that whom ever is responsible for the up keep of this crossing, correct it as soon as possible.

At the rate of speed the trains come through the area, it may not be possible to stop it next time.

We also strongly feel that signs should be posted on Highway 90, stating all heavy vehicles should use Waveland Avenue or Lakeshore Road railroad crossings temporarily until the hazardous Clermont crossing can be corrected.

We would like to see this letter published and action taken.

Heart Answers

WHAT IS CONGENITAL HEART DISEASE?

Congenital heart disease is the abnormal development of the heart before a child is born. A congenital heart defect may be diagnosed at some time during childhood in a routine physical examination. Some defects may be caused by drugs taken during pregnancy or exposure to German measles (rubella) during pregnancy. They may be inherited, or the cause may be unknown. Congenital heart defects may require only minimal medical supervision or they may require corrective surgery to avoid complications later in life. Some congenital heart defects can be prevented by vaccination of the mother against rubella prior to pregnancy and by following a doctor's advice while taking medications during pregnancy. DEFENSE IN SOUTH MISSISSIPPI

The debate is beginning to rage again in Washington over President Reagan's proposed 10 percent increase in defense spending.

There are those, even a majority of the Senate Budget Committee, who want to see the increase cut to something like five percent. And, there are a whole lot more members of the House who want to drastically increase spending on social programs, raise new taxes, and otherwise attack the economic progress we have made over the past two years.

While on the national level the debate may center on philosophy and the country's direction, the meaning of the words "defense spending" in South Mississippi is much easier to translate: defense means jobs.

It is no small wonder, then, that almost 85 percent of the people who responded to my recent questionnaire said they supported the President's efforts to rebuild national defense.

No one wants waste in federal spending and not even the Pentagon should be shielded from looking for ways to eliminate unnecessary spending. As a fiscal conservative, it is offensive to me to just throw money at any problem, even the military rebuilding effort.

What we need to look at, it seems to me, is the impact that federal spending in the defense area has on the nation and, more specifically, on South Mississippi in terms of jobs. Our government installations have contributed heavily toward improving the quality of life in our area.

For example, Ingalls Shipbuilding in Pascagoula, with its contracts for construction and design of Navy vessels, provides jobs for at least 12,500 people and generates approximately $25 billion in economic activity, including work for hundreds of sub-contractors.

Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi has a payroll for almost 20,000 civilian and military personnel which, coupled with construction contracts and services, generated approximately $600 million in economic activity in South Mississippi last year.

With completion of the $480 million ammunition plant for the U.S. Army, the National Space Technology Laboratories near Bay St. Louis may provide as many as 4,000 permanent jobs in the agencies housed there. The multiplier effect of NSTL's $150 million annual payroll could put the facility's economic impact in the $300 million to $400 million range.

A multi-million dollar program of new construction at the Veterans Administration hospitals in Gulfport and Biloxi will mean jobs for hard-pressed construction workers; the impact of the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport will continue to grow.

And, these are only the groups which are related to national defense. There is a variety of other agencies which deal with virtually every service offered by the United States government.

I am happy with the role South Mississippians play in the defense of our country, proud of their commitment and devotion. When the discussion in Washington turns to defense spending, my mind is on South Mississippi.

National Library Week, April 17-23

Hancock Library to salute young adults

Each year the Hancock County Library System joins the American Library Association and libraries throughout the nation in celebrating National Library Week.

Monday through Saturday the library will celebrate National Library Week, this year by focusing on service to young adults.

Programs for this National Library Week have been planned to interest teenagers as well as the general public in order to demonstrate the resources available at the local library.

An "Evening of Drama" launches this year's celebration. Beginning at 7 p.m. on Monday at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis, students from Bay High Drama Club, Our Lady Academy Forensic Club, and the St. Stanislaus Drama Club will perform in a full range of dramatic presentations, from poetry recitations to a complete one-act play.

Tuesday from 2 to 6 p.m. representatives of three local computer stores will exhibit their hardware and software products.

Radio Shack will be showing the TRS-II, TRS Color Computer, and the TRS

Pocket Computer. Charlton & Co. is bringing the Zenith Systems, Atari 800, and the VIC-20. Datalab will be showing the Apple IIe.

All computers will be available for hands-on experimentation.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday a Health Fair will feature a light-up heart from the American Heart Association, a "breathing lung" machine from the American Cancer Society, a slide program on young people in Mississippi from the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, and from the Health Department, three films: "V.D.: A New Focus," "Foods, Fads and Facts," and "Are You Ready for Sex."

Also from the Health Department, a nurse, social worker and nutritionist will be on hand to provide brochures, pamphlets, and other information on health care.

Thursday at 4 p.m. learn to sculpt your body with Linda Emmel and Arley Vest, bodybuilding champions. They will discuss weight conditioning, overall fitness, and their experiences as bodybuilders. A demonstration of exercises will follow.

Interested in a career in one of the United States Armed Forces? How about the Army, Air Force, or Marines? You can visit their recruiters in Gulfport.

Army National Guard? The closest recruiter's office is in Biloxi.

Thinking of a career in the Coast Guard? The Coast Guard recruiter for Hancock County is located in New Orleans.

As a matter of fact, the Navy is the only one of the armed forces that maintains a recruiting office in Hancock County.

As a service to all those young people who are considering enlistment, now or in the future, the Hancock County Library System is hosting a special Armed Forces Recruiters Day at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Recruiters from the Navy, Army, Air

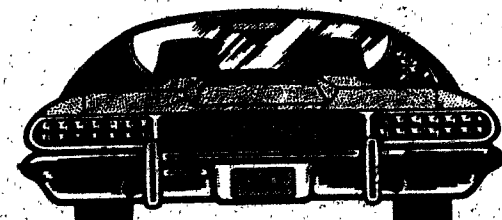

Force, Marines, Coast Guard, and Army National Guard will be talking to interested young people about the educational and career opportunities available in their various services.

"Come join us for this final activity of the 1983 National Library Week.

Take advantage of this special opportunity to find out what the armed forces can do for you. It's yours in Mississippi libraries, said Prima Wusnack, county library director.

Also on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Waveland Library, Catherine Lundy, PhD, will conduct a workshop on stress in our daily lives and how to cope with it. Pre-registration is required for this workshop by calling 467-9240 or 467-5282.

"Make our celebration of National Library Week a big success. The only thing missing is you! Join us," Wusnack urges.

Flood damages need reporting to CD

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Persons sustaining property damages due to flooding should report losses to Civil Defense Headquarters as soon as possible, according to Robert Boudin, Hancock County director.

Boudin also offered high praises for the many volunteers who worked so hard during the ordeal.

"Boudin said, 'As you know, the people are the civil defense. The policemen, volunteer firemen, auxiliary members and all volunteers. These people did an outstanding job in preparation for the flood, and I am only the civil defense director.'

"During the crisis, preparations began Friday afternoon with the filling of the sandbags, and I was in continuous contact with the command post at the Community Center via telephone.

aid, also made frequent visits to the area. The Mississippi National Guard Unit in Hancock County was on standby, and ready to roll within a few minutes as they were on duty for the weekend," Boudin added.

The civil defense director continued, "We were ready to open shelters and the Red Cross had a staff on standby to operate it, if needed."

Many of those affected by the flood water stayed with relatives and friends.

Boudin also mentioned special praises go to Roy Baxter, owner of the Pearl River Marina for all of his assistance.

The Hancock County Civil Defense office is located at the Valena C. Jones Complex, Old Spanish Trail and Booker Street, and is open Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Red Cross closes down in flood area

Robert Clark, Hancock County Chairman of Disaster Services of the American Red Cross reported late Saturday afternoon that services were shut down in Pearllington 12 noon on Saturday.

Clark said they serviced thirty-two homes and that thirty-six cleanup kits were distributed.

He said there were 4 cases in the area that needed food, clothing and shelter. Two case workers helped with the cases. One came from Picayune and the other from Washington, D.C.

An average of 2.15 persons read each newspaper circulated in the United States.

USM slates briefings on higher education issues

Key issues facing higher education in Mississippi will be the subject of six spring briefing sessions scheduled by the University of Southern Mississippi in six different locations in south and central Mississippi between April 20 and 29.

"We feel it is important for individuals in the secondary school system, junior colleges as well as parents to be fully aware of these issues from a USM perspective as they relate to and impact currently-enrolled and future students," said Dr. Hugh Fruge, assistant vice president for academic affairs at USM.

Briefing sites and dates include: Laurel, April 20, Ramada Inn; Brookhaven, April 21, Holiday Inn; Gulf Coast, Biloxi, Royal I'derville, April 22; Jackson, Holiday Inn, North; April 26; Hattiesburg, Howard Johnson's, April 27; Meridian, Holiday Inn, South, April 29.

Issues to be discussed at the briefings include: Junior College Transfer Standards for 1984; High School Prerequisite and Admission Standards for 1986; Leadership Roles; Center for Excellence; Academic Programs Review; Teacher Education Admission Standards and an overview of academics at USM.

The briefings are open and USM officials welcome anyone interested in these topics to attend. There is no registration fee.

Each session will follow the same format and address the same topics. Registration will be at 9:30 a.m. and sessions will begin at 10 a.m. Plans call for the briefings to be followed by an open sharing session ending around noon.

"We will be available as long as people have questions, either in the session or following the formal part of the meeting," Fruge said.

160 FEET ABOVE WAVELAND—Moving along a board and ladder secured to metal supports just underneath Waveland's new elevated water tank Monday which is located just north of US-90 near Our Shopping Center are painters Mike Owens, top, and Carl Woodall, both of Memphis, Tenn. and employed by Taylor Iron Works of Macon, Ga. The two, part of a four-man painting crew, had just completed sandblasting off rust and are preparing to spray metal primer paint on the tank. John Higdon of Bruceton, Tenn. is following the two in roller application of a finish coat listed on a paint chart as Waveland blue. Job supervisor Byron Rhoades of Auburn, Ala. said, weather permitting, the two-week job utilizing about 240 gallons of paint inside and outside of the tank should be completed in just a few days. Education Reform Act topic of AARP

The Education Reform Act of 1982 will be the subject at the speaker meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons to be held at 10 a.m. Monday, April 18 at the American Legion Post 77, Coleman Avenue, Waveland.

The speaker, Dick Molpus, executive director of the governor's office of federal-state programs is originally from Philadelphia, Miss. and received his bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Mississippi in 1971.

Molpus who is a member of Governor Winter's executive staff has been on the board of directors of the Citizens Bank and Trust in Morton, Miss. and was president and chairman of United Givers Fund of Neshoba County in 1979. He was vice president of the Mississippi Lumber Manufacturers Association in 1979 and vice chairman of the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Museum Foundation in 1979. Liz Peeler, administrative assistant to Governor Winter, in a letter said, "Molpus is anxious to talk with the group and to explain what needs to be done to follow through with the provision of the Education Act."

Lakeshore man found guilty in shooting

A Hancock jury found Troy Watson, 47 of Lakeshore guilty of aggravated assault at a trial held Friday.

Circuit Court Judge James Thomas sentenced Watson to 20-years at the Department of Corrections at Parchman.

Watson was arrested and charged with aggravated assault on Jan. 5, 1983 in a Bayside Park shooting incident.

Also in court on Friday, Reggie Laneaux who was originally sentenced to 7-years in Parchman on charges of burglary was sentenced to an additional 5-years for escaping.

Wastewater facility seeking improvements

By JUNE M. HEYDT

An updated report on costs to upgrade facilities of the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District was presented to the district's board of directors Wednesday evening.

Ray Eaton of Lewis and Eaton Partnership, Architects, Engineers and Planners presented the 201-208 Plan report.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr., board chairman said, "the whole project will cost $3 million dollars, but 75 percent will be handled by federal funding. The balance will be the local share which will average out to approximately $3 per household above what is now being paid."

Longo said, "This is a problem that should have been taken care of a long time ago."

"A letter has been sent from the district to the Bureau of Pollution Control requesting priority grant funds to accomplish needed improvements," said Longo.

"After the Bureau of Pollution Control revises the Gulf Regional 208 Plan a joint public hearing will be held on final plans and costs," said Longo.

Comments from the public hearing, the district, and the Bureau of Pollution Control will be incorporated into a final report and sent back to BPC for final processing by that agency, EPA and the governor's office.

Approval from these agencies will allow the district to request grant funds from the state and federal government.

The district's Dolph Kellar, vice chairman; Larry Bennett, secretary-treasurer; Ethel Schott, administrator; and Gene Taylor, Bay St. Louis city councilman also attended Wednesday's meeting.

Bed and breakfast a different accomodation

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will host a meeting on bed and breakfast Thursday, April 21 at 7 p.m. at the chamber office on US-90.

Bed and breakfast offers the homeowner a unique experience of meeting people from other parts of the country and the world and a chance for supplemental income as well.

Various types of homes are desired — those in urban and rural areas; those near recreational facilities; those of historic interest; or simply modern homes with a quiet, pleasant atmosphere.

Potential bed and breakfast homes and hosts will be carefully screened by the chamber's Bed & Breakfast Committee for selection to participate in the program.

Persons interested in hearing more about bed and breakfast procedures, are invited to attend. For information contact the chamber, 467-9048.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES KYLE KING

Afternoon ceremony unites King, Savell

First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting for the March 19 wedding of Arlies Savell of Bay St. Louis and James Kyle King of Pass Christian.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. James N. Savell of Decatur, Miss. The groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. J. Kent King of Thomasville, Ala.

Rev. Nathan Barber officiated at the 1:30 p.m. afternoon ceremony.

Baskets of white carnations and gladioli decorated the church while palm leaves and white carnations adorned the baptistry.

Musical selections were provided by Les Gray, accompanied by organist Gail Carr and flutist Melinda Smith, all of Bay St. Louis.

Given in marriage by her brothers, Jesse Savell of Decatur and Hamp Savell of Lawrence, Miss., the bride wore a formal gown of chantilly and ruffled lace over a bodice enhanced by a Queen Anne neckline strewn with sparkling iridescents. Her long, tapered sleeves were of lace and the slightly dropped waistline gave way to a full bouffant skirt and chapel length train. She wore a headpiece of chantilly lace which held a fingertip veil of illusion bordered in matching lace.

She carried a colonial style bouquet of white silk roses and miniature blue carnations interspersed with satin ribbon and lace streamers.

Shirley Murphy of Meridian, Miss. attended her sister as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Gray of Bay St. Louis; Marsha Blackstock of Waveland; Kay Watkins of Philadelphia, Miss. and Kristy Seay of Auburn, Ala., sister of the groom.

Dreama Savell and Misty Savell of Decatur, nieces of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

Flower girl was Lorri Savell of Lawrence, Miss., niece of the bride.

The attendants were attired in formal gowns of blue gingham and white hats trimmed in blue ribbon.

The honor attendant carried a long stemmed white silk rose trimmed with blue gingham ribbon, while the bridesmaids carried white carnations.

Dr. J. Kent King served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Jesse

Savell and Hamp Savell, brothers of the bride; Tony Johnson of Biloxi and Jack Hode of Bay St. Louis.

Shaun Savell of Decatur, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride chose for the occasion a blue chiffon dress featuring soft ruffles at the neckline and a pleated skirt. The groom's mother was attired in a wine colored dress with matching jacket trimmed in lace.

A reception followed the ceremony at the First Baptist Church fellowship hall. Assisting were Grace Gibson, Mrs. Minnie Geiger and Stephanie Crawford of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Roberta Harville of Waveland.

The couple will reside in Pass Christian. On the eve of the wedding, the groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Sirolo Stockade in Waveland.

Rayborn, Smith to exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Rayborn of Waveland announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay Rayborn, to Samuel Brooks Smith of Pascagoula, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Pascagoula and the late Mr. Wesley Smith.

Miss Rayborn is a 1977 graduate of Bay High and a 1981 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in clothing merchandising and marketing. She has conducted cheerleader clinics with the National Cheerleaders' Association throughout the Southeast for four years serving as a head instructor during her fourth year.

While at USM, Miss Rayborn was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, a varsity football cheerleader, head cheerleader, a campus beauty, a Dean's List Scholar, a Kappa Sigma Little Sister, and USM's Mardi Gras Queen for 1980. She has been selected as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America and is currently working on her second degree in distributive education.

Mr. Smith is a 1972 graduate of Pascagoula High School and a 1976 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in marketing and business administration. While at Southern he was a four-year letterman as pitcher on the baseball team serving as team captain his senior year, a member of the American Marketing Association, and a Dean's List Scholar. He is currently employed as a Marketing Support Specialist with American Bell in Mobile, Ala.

The couple will exchange vows on May 14 at 6:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Johnson, Culpepper plan May wedding

Reverend and Mrs. Charles R. Johnson of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Newhall Johnson, to David Hunt Culpepper, son of Dr. Robert C. Culpepper of Alexandria, La., and Mrs. Frances Jean Culpepper of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of Coast Episcopal High School, Pass Christian, and Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., where she received a bachelor of arts degree in religion. She is presently employed at Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Culpepper is a graduate of Bolton High School, Alexandria, La. and of Millsaps College, where he received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He is also a graduate of Belhaven College, Jackson, where he received a bachelor of science degree in accounting. He is employed by the Treasury Department in Miami, Fla.

The wedding will take place Saturday, May 28 at 2 p.m. at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis.

ROBERT MCLEAN AND LAURIE KOCH

Koch, McLean to wed at O L G

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Christian Koch of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Laurie Renee Koch, to Robert Cochrane McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Stuart McLean of Littleton, Co.

and the late Mr. and Mrs. Chrisey Koch.

The prospective groom was graduated from Memorial Senior High School in Houston, Tex., where he was a National Merit Scholar. He is a student at Rice University.

He is the grandson of Mrs. William McLean of Upper Montclair, N. J. and the late Mr. McLean and the late Mr. and Mrs. Armand C. Pfaff, Tex.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Our Lady's Academy and is a student at Rice University, Houston, Tex.

She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Schwarz of Hutchinson, Kan.

The couple will exchange vows in a 2 p.m. ceremony May 21 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Spring tour of homes slated

The Martha Chapter of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian is sponsoring a spring "Tour of Homes" and tea, Thursday from 2 to 4 p.m. Proceeds from the tour will benefit the Martha Chapter Coast Episcopal School's Scholarship Fund.

Three houses on Pass Christian's historic Scenic Drive are included.

Carlisle Place, 629 East Scenic Drive, home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Bailey, will be shown and is the setting for the tea. This house has been renovated by Mr. and Mrs. Bailey.

The house and garden of Karen Graham at 811 East Scenic Drive will also be shown. This graceful cypress home is circa 1885 and features many outstanding architectural details.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Kinney III will be featured, a large, two story frame cottage, circa 1900 and a good example of Gulf Coast architecture.

Trinity Episcopal Church on West Beach Drive will be open for those interested. The present structure built in 1971 faithfully replaced the original 1859 edifice destroyed by Hurricane Camille.

Members of coast church guilds and garden clubs are welcome on the private tour.

For information contact Mrs. William Braun, 663-8193, in Long Beach of Mrs. Thomas Shellnut, 452-4714, in Pass Christian.

Home gardeners need five tools

A gardener without hand tools is like an automobile without gas. Neither will go very far.

Jim Perry, a horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said good garden tools are essential to successful gardening.

"A good way for beginners to start would be to go to a big hardware section and say, 'show me your best garden tools, and tell me why they are better,'" Perry said.

The horticulturist suggests that tool shoppers ask merchants to line up a top quality long handled spade, a triangular hoe and an iron rake. "Then count your money and see if you can afford a spading fork as well," he said.

Perry said final items will be a good hand trowel and a two-gallon pump-type sprayer.

"This beginning set of tools might cost $100 or more,"

Perry said. But, good tools will last from 10 to 12 years. The steel will hold an edge and will not bend.

"You would really have to abuse them to break the handles. People will love good hand tools, a feeling they will never have if they buy the shoddy, cheap stuff."

Chili Cheese Biscuits Have Southwestern Zip

One taste of these nippy chili cheese biscuits and you'll feel you're right out there in the sunny Southwest with its high flavors and down-home cooking. They're seasoned with chili powder—that tasty blend of chili peppers, oregano, cumin and garlic, plus some onion powder. The biscuits are from a prepared mix, so they're easy to whip up. Try them with steak, meatloaf, chicken, ribs or whatever you're serving. Or just eat 'em hot out of the oven with butter.

CHILI CHEESE BISCUITS

2 1/4 cups buttermilk baking mix
1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon onion powder
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 450°F. In a large bowl combine baking mix, chili powder and onion powder. Add sour cream and cheese; mix until mixture is moistened. Knead to form a soft smooth dough, about 10 times. On a lightly floured board with a floured rolling pin roll dough 1/4-inch thick. Cut with a 2-inch biscuit cutter dipped in flour. Place on an ungreased baking sheet. Re-roll and cut remaining dough. Bake until biscuits are golden, 12 to 15 minutes.
YIELD: about 12 biscuits.

CONCERT QUESTIONS

Why can't a concert crowd reflect the maturity of the performer they've come to see? Why must there be a handful of cretins bent on audible interruption amongst the thousands of reverent fans who have shelled out big bucks to attend a one-night affair?

These questions plagued me as Dan Fogelberg attempted to perform his one-man, acoustic show at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum on April 11. Alternating between the piano and guitar, Fogelberg effortlessly delivered resounding vocals with perfectly matched music for over two hours.

Still, in some of the pauses used by Fogelberg for effect, there was always some yahoo who let out with, "Aieeeeee!" or some other primeval scream designed to attract attention.

This airheaded yelling prompted Fogelberg to make a deal with the audience. He said, "I'll play two new songs that I've just written, if you'll just listen to them. They'll be plenty of time to holler after the show."

Thank goodness the crowd responded to his plea considering Fogelberg's artistic temperament. Because of bad acoustics, he once stalked out of the Oxford Auditorium at Ole Miss after only two songs. Luckily, for the real fans at the Coast Coliseum, the boisterous extroverts quieted down for a little while.

Which brings us back to the original point: Why would someone pay $13 for a ticket and then spend the entire show yelling to their friends? It's ludicrous, but here we are.

as if I were watching a Jerry Lewis movie. Wouldn't it have been much cheaper to have simply sat in the parking lot? At least there, they wouldn't have to yell.

But if you managed to sit through some fellow eating Nachos throughout a classical Spanish guitar rift, or listen to some Valley Girl clone complaining about the color of her fingernails during one of Fogelberg's most romantic songs—"To The Morning"—the concert was alright.

Certainly Fogelberg, who was burned to a crisp from spending six hours on the beach in Biloxi, was at the top of his form. A multi-talented individual who writes all his own music, plays most of the instruments on his albums and sometimes even paints the pictures that appear on them, Fogelberg's voice sounded great.

He, enchanted, the crowd with his new music and satisfied them with old favorites. He ended the evening with "Part of the Plan," followed by "There's a Place in the World for a Gambler," during which he got everyone in the Coliseum singing, and bowed out with "Along the Road."

In all, a great performance by a great performer.

Bravo!

MEDIA WATCHWORD
This Monday night (April 18) NBC repeats the great 1979 film "Breaking Away." Don't miss it. This Peter Yates film won an Oscar for best original screenplay for Steven Telsh.

Yates, whose past accomplishments include "Bullitt" and "The Deep," directed this small picture (the budget was a meager $2.4 million) filmed entirely in Bloomington, Indiana.

Yates is considered an action director and action is what he delivers as he uses relatively unknown actors and a predictable plot to give us a realistic and quite wonderful view of four hometown boys growing up.

The performances by Dennis Christopher, Barbara Barrie and Paul Dooley are exquisite. And besides the fantastic footage of bicycle racing there is enough truth and humor in this film to soften the heart of even the most hardened observer.

Break away and watch "Breaking Away" this Monday on NBC.

Hancock residents meet Love 22

Two Hancock County residents, Jinky Underwood and Betsy Nolan, met the notorious Presidential candidate Love 22 while on their recent trip to Del Ray Beach, Florida.

Love 22, his real name, he had it legally changed in 1975, was returning to his campaign headquarters in Key West, Florida. Love 22 was leaving New Orleans after being arrested for selling $22 dollar bills in Jackson Square on Ash Wednesday.

This time, Love 22 made the mistake of selling his fake $22 bills bearing his grinning countenance not only to a Secret Service agent, but also to Assistant U.S. Attorney Louis J. Volz III, who recognized him as the man from whom prosecutors seized a stash of 7,000 bills when he was in New Orleans two years ago.

Jinky Underwood and Betsy Nolan received their $22 bill free of charge since Love 22 professes to have given up the sale of these bills for Lent.

Guild speaker discusses faith of Founding Fathers

"There is a Power" was the title of an address given Monday by Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis on the program of St. Monica Guild of Trinity Church in Pass Christian.

The meeting was held in the East Beach home of Mrs. Malcolm Dinwiddie in Pass Christian.

"There is a mystery, a miracle, and a unique quality about each of us," Mrs. Pilet told the group and added: "No two persons have exactly the same concept of that Great Power, that indescribable Intelligence we call God."

Historians and archaeologists have proven that wherever man dwells there is an insatiable urge, a strong desire for a closer and more perfect communion with this Supreme Intelligence, Mrs. Pilet pointed out.

Quoting from the autobiographies of founding fathers and well-known philosophers and religious writers, Mrs. Pilet touched on the beliefs of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Paine, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman and Max Ehrmann.

"It is assumed that Washington was an Episcopalian," she told the group, and that he attended church in Alexandria, Va.

Actually Washington was on the vestry of the Pohick Episcopal Church, where his father, Augustine, had served in 1735.

The Pohick Church is in Lorton, about 20 miles south of Washington.

Although Washington endorsed the moral teachings of Jesus Christ, in his autobiography he wrote: "I think the system of morals and religion of Jesus of Nazareth, as he left them to us, the best the world ever saw — or is likely to see. I have, with the most of the present discenterers in England, some doubts as to his divinity."

"Thomas Jefferson insisted on the individual's right to seek his spiritual outlet in his own way," Mrs. Pilet explained, and added that The Philadelphia Public Library in 1830 refused shelf space to Jefferson's writings, branding him an infidel.

In his autobiography Jefferson said: "I have never told my own religion, nor scrutinized that of another. I judge the religion of others by their lives."

Benjamin Franklin wrote his own version of the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. Pilet pointed out, and said that Franklin made a daily habit of asking himself two questions: What good shall I do today? What good have I done today?

Thomas Paine, Mrs. Pilet said, was the most controversial man of his time and labeled an enemy of the church. Paine said, "We can know God only through his works," and felt that the creator of man was also the creator of science — and through that medium man can find God.

Praising Ralph Waldo Emerson as one of the greatest thinkers of his time, Mrs. Pilet said in his essay "Spiritual Laws" Emerson wrote: "Believe and love. God exists. A little consideration of what takes place around us every day would show us that a higher law than ours will regulate events."

In concluding her summary, Mrs. Pilet pointed to the success of Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman's book entitled "Peace of Mind" which sold 729,000 copies, proving that man's first priority above health, love, wealth, talent and power is peace of mind.

To achieve peace of mind, Mrs. Pilet, expressed the belief that the messages from Shakespeare, Lieberman, and Ehrman of "Know thyself," "Love yourself that you may love your neighbor," and "Be gentle with yourself and nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune," respectively, were sound advice.

"Our God has wished us happiness. Be cheerful. Strive to be happy," she concluded.

LIKE: THE WAR YEARS

A special, four-hour presentation of "The War Years," a dramatization of the World War II years of America's legendary hero Dwight D. Eisenhower, will air Saturday, May 21, at 12:05-4:05 p.m. on WTBS, Ch. 7 on Hancock Cable.

Ike is the wartime saga of General Dwight Eisenhower — the Kansas country boy who led the mightiest invasion force in history and conquered a continent, while becoming the most beloved American hero of the 20th century.

The powerful drama stars

Robert Duvall as Eisenhower and Lee Remick as Kay Summersby, the fiery-tempered British driver whose spirit, intelligence, charm and devotion proved invaluable to Ike amidst the pressures of his responsibilities. Ike features an all-star supporting cast which includes Darren McGavin, Dana Andrews, J.D. Cannon, Ian Richardson, William Schallert and Laurence Luckinbill.

Ike, filmed on location in America and England, incorporates authentic wartime battle footage in the presentation.

The buck starts here.

Making a start is probably the most important step toward saving.

There is a way to take the initial step and know you're on the right track toward a regular, scheduled savings. Just join the Payroll Savings Plan at work. A little is taken out of each paycheck toward the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. You don't have to worry about making a special effort to put something aside each payday. It's all done for you. Automatically.

The bucks start piling up, the interest grows, and you realize you've found one surefire way to save.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy
MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Let's play a game. You've probably played it before — it's called "word Association." Here's the way it goes. When I say a word, you respond with the first word that comes to mind. Don't take time to think about it. Just say the first word which comes in to your mind.

Ready? Here's the word: Power!
What was your response? Having tried this with others here are typical responses: Strength, Electricity, Might, President, Army, Money. One person said God.

When we think of power we generally think in terms of military power! Political power! Financial power!

It must have seemed strange to those Roman ears to hear Paul talk about the power of the Gospel. To them Rome was power. No one challenged her because of her military power. And yet if it is so full of power where is the great empire of Rome today, or that of Germany or Japan?

And what about great political power? There were many heads of state who thought that their political power was above the law. But where is Nero? Adolf Hitler? Nikita Krushchev? Richard Nixon?

Or consider financial power? Whatever became of Aristotle Onassis? J. Paul Getty? Howard Hughes?

Paul argued that the gospel is the power of God. That gospel continues to live even longer than the great Roman empire, surpassing even the term of Nixon and even outlasting the wealth of Howard Hughes!

The Greek word here for power was the same root work from which we get our English words dynamo, dynamic, and dynamite! The gospel is the greatest power ever loosed on earth. Nothing can stop it. It continues to bless people's lives with power that they can not get from any other source. It continues to blast away old sinful patterns of life and thought while replacing them with constructive ones.

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

—John 10:10

Look around. You see people who have changed.

—Here is a man who once cheated, cursed and was feared by all who is now fair, friendly and loved by all.

—Here is a man who was once a wife-beating, child-beating tyrant who is now a model husband and father.

—Here is a woman who was a critical, nagging wife who is now a loving, considerate lady.

Friends, these changes were and never are brought about by demands and threats, but by the transforming power of the Bible, God's dynamite!

The question we want answered about any product is, "Does it work?" The Bible works. Wherever it has gone it has made people peaceful, loving, compassionate, and happy.

What it has done for others it can do for you!

The Abundant Life Crusade is coming May 1-6. It could change your life!

Catholic Church Parish News

By FR. BERNARD KELLER

The Lord's healing love can transform us if we open ourselves to its power. That love can rescue us from the fear that makes us weak. It can give us courage to walk in new ways.

We would like to thank our Gospel Choir, Mary Clarke, Hazel Breaux and all who helped to make the Confirmation Mass last Sunday a memorable event for our young people who made their commitment to the Church by the Sacrament of Confirmation.

Remember, "this is not a graduation from religious education." Also thanks to Marilyn Williams and the ladies who helped her with the wonderful Confirmation dinner.

Kindly remember in your prayers the following who were baptized at St. Rose last Sunday: Travis Anthony Joseph Collins, son of Fabian Collins and Darlene Jones; Phalba Camellia Holmes, daughter of Ronald Holmes and June Wallace; Tiffany Frances Johnson, daughter of Margaret Johnson; and Mayesha Nukia Mary Moxey, daughter of Kirkland Moxey and Yolanda Taylor.

We would like to thank the following who helped prepare, serve and clean up for the Xavier Choir dinner: Sharon Alexander, Lisa Bradley, Lonnie Bradley, Mae Farve, Virginia Jones, Joan Mitchell, Louise Smith, Clementine Williams, Donna Williams, Louise Williams and Marilyn Williams. If you missed the concert, you missed some wonderful entertainment!

Sister Lauren will soon start an Inquiry Class for those who wish to learn about the teachings of the Church. If you know of any interested non-Catholics, please contact her or the rectory.

After the 9 a.m. Mass today.

religious instructions will be given for our children attending public school, kindergarten through 8th grade, also for the Confirmation and pre-Confirmation classes. Tomorrow at 5:30 p.m., will be for 11th and 12th grades.

Our Altar Society will meet today in the rectory after the 9 a.m. Mass.

Tomorrow at 7 p.m. the Hancock County Chapter NAACP will meet at the Gulf Side Assembly in Waveland. Tuesday at 7 p.m. the Bay-Waveland Headstart will conduct Graduation Exercises at the Seminary Gymnasium. Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. our Little People Choir will practice; 6:30 p.m. our Gospel Choir.

St. Rose Catholic Youth Organization will meet Monday, April 25.

Next Saturday Mrs. Jessie Hathorn and Mr. Philip Terrell will be guest singers at our evening Vigil Mass at 6 p.m. The Douglas Williams family will perform the other service part of the liturgy.

Mary L. Evans wishes to thank and offer sincere words of appreciation to everyone who participated by giving SPACE-AGE FACTORY—A large section of a Space Shuttle external tank in a new manufacturing cell dwarfs tank inspectors. Martin Marietta Aerospace uses this manufacturing cell and two others like it to speed construction and lower production costs of the external tanks. The cells are part of the factory complex at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans, La. The cells use a sophisticated computer controlled system to apply insulation materials to external tank sections, improving productivity over earlier application methods. The liquid oxygen tank/inter-tank assembly shown here covered with the spray-on foam insulation is less than half the external tank's 154-foot length. Since 1973, the company has spent more than $50 million improving construction practices at Michoud. An additional $45 million is planned through 1984. Martin Marietta manufactures the external tanks under contract to NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Ala.

What to Do!

Unemployed have certain options

By Beverly Riggs
Family Economics & Management Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Losing a job is traumatic, whether it means losing the entire family income or only a part of it.

Your financial affairs are still in your control, however, and there are certain steps you can take to help hold onto what resources you have and survive this financial crisis.

The first step is to file for unemployment benefits. Take your social security card and go to the unemployment office or location nearest your home as soon as possible. They will help you file your claim.

If there is a waiting period between the time you apply for unemployment benefits and the time your checks begin, you may be eligible for public assistance.

Also, if you are not eligible for unemployment benefits or if your unemployment benefits run out before you find another job, you may be able to get public assistance.

Next, evaluate the ways your family uses money. Now is the time to tighten the purse strings and eliminate needless spending. One of the most difficult things about being unemployed is to realize you cannot spend the way you did before. Pretending to yourself and to others that nothing has changed will not make things easier. Spending less is a must!

All fixed expenses, such as rent or mortgage payments, installment payments, insurance premiums, and other payments due on a specific date must be paid. Other expenses, such as for food, clothing, and recreation, can be reduced by cutting out waste and unnecessary purchases.

Third, talk to the people you owe. Don't ignore bills or you may lose what you already have.

Immediately contact your creditors: the finance company, bank, credit union, and department stores. Make an appointment to explain your problem. Here are some solutions you and your creditors might work out:

—Make smaller (reduced) payments you can afford for a short period of time.

—Refinance your loan. You can make another contract for smaller payments over a longer period of time. The new payments will be smaller, but the overall cost for the loan will be larger.

If all else fails, consider a consolidation loan. You can take out one loan to pay off all your bills at once. Then you will have just one debt to pay off to just one creditor. Each payment will be smaller, but you will commit yourself for a longer period of time, usually at a higher total cost.

Don't forget to work out a way to handle your monthly mortgage payments. If they are too high for you to pay, go to your lender and explain. Ask the officer in the mortgage lending department to permit you to pay only the interest for a certain period of time. Or perhaps you can postpone one or two payments until you have pulled yourself out of your financial crisis.

Next, examine your insurance policies. Chances are that you were insured under your former employer's group health, accident, and life insurance plan. If you were, you probably have a 30-day period from the day you left the company to reapply for an individual policy with the same insurance company without having a medical examination. The premiums for an individual policy will probably be higher than the premiums you paid for the group policy. But, you need insurance now perhaps more than ever.

In many life insurance contracts there is an automatic premium loan clause. This clause says the company will use your dividends to pay your premiums or will deduct the premium payments from the cash value of your policy.

Finally, if you need outside help, turn to social agencies. Social programs, such as food stamps and Medicaid, are available for families needing financial aid.

Contact the Food Stamp office in your county to find out if you are eligible. Eligibility is determined by your family's resources and family income. When you apply for the Food Stamp program, take with you your rent receipts or housing payment book, utility bills, and proof of income for all working members of your household, including all benefits such as Social Security and public assistance, bank books, or any papers showing what you have in savings.

Oliver W. Lee Sr. eyes constable post

Oliver W. Lee Sr., 36, Flat Top Community native and lifelong resident of Hancock County, reports he is running for the District Two constable's position in the Aug. 2 primary election.

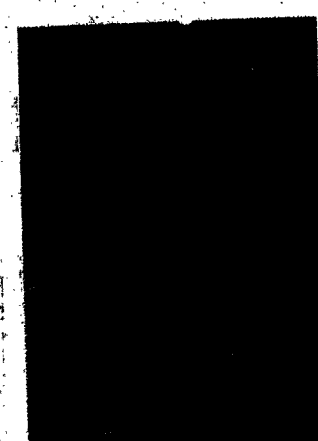

A resident of Caesar Community, Lee is a District Two county employee.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lee Sr. of Blewville Community.

Lee attended Piquette High School and is a former commissioned auxiliary officer of the Piquette Police Department.

He is a member of the Blewville Baptist Church.

Related to the former Marie Doucet of Rocky Hill, they have three children: Oliver Jr., 10, and two daughters, 10 and 8.

OLIVER W. LEE SR.

best to make you a constable you will be proud of," Lee said.

"I decided I will do my very election," the candidate said.

Extension specialist reports on whole grain nutrition

By ANN O. RUSHING
Extension Marketing
Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Enriched or whole grain foods including bread, cereal, rice and macaroni products make important contributions to the diet and can stretch food dollars when you use them in supplement or extend more expensive animal protein foods.

Served as a side dish or combined with meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese or milk, grain foods contributed nutrients to your diet at a moderate cost.

Products made from barley, corn, oats, rice, rye and wheat vary in flavor, texture, appearance and nutritional value. On the labels of white flour, breads, macaroni products, farina, corn meal, and rice, look for the term enriched.

This means that three B vitamins and iron have been added to the product.

Four is made from different varieties of grain, but wheat flour is probably the most widely used. When the wheat is milled into white flour, only the inner part of the grain is used.

Most flour is bleached so that it is white in color. Unbleached flour is growing in popularity, however, because it is regarded as more "natural." Whole wheat flour is made from all parts of the grain and therefore adds more fiber to the diet.

Self-rising flour is also available. These have leavening ingredients and salt added. Flour is generally classified by use such as all-purpose, bread, cake and pastry.

All-purpose flour is suitable for most home baking. Bread flours are higher in protein and coarser in texture. Cake and pastry flours are fine textured and more expensive.

Breads and bakery foods are available unbaked (refrigerated or frozen), partially or fully baked. With the growing awareness of nutrition, whole grain breads have increased in popularity. However, the price of bakery items does vary, along with the ingredients, quality and convenience they offer.

Making your own pasta is easy and fun to do if you have the time and the interest. Buying fresh pasta also is popular with many gourmet cooks. Dry pasta, which includes macaroni, spaghetti and noodles, comes in many interesting shapes and sizes. These products are good in casseroles, salads and side dishes.

Cereals may be flaked, granulated, puffed, rolled or shredded. To-be-cooked cereals include regular, quick-cooking and instant varieties. Ready-to-eat cereals are the most convenient, but usually are higher priced than cereals which require cooking. Some ready-to-eat cereals may be presweetened as well.

When comparing cereal prices, consider the cooking method, packaging, number of servings and the amount of processing. Also check the list of ingredients. Is sugar added as the first or dominant ingredient?

Rice is sold in many forms such as a ready-to-eat cereal, precooked, and converted or parboiled. Precooked rice requires little preparation and is more convenient, but it's more expensive than uncooked rice. Converted or parboiled rice has been specially processed by steam or hot water. This improves the nutritive value and the keeping quality of the rice. The available varieties of rice include white and brown.

Convenient rice mixes with seasonings and other ingredients are also on the market, but they are more expensive. When shopping you must decide if these convenience products are worth the extra cost or if you should add some of the ingredients yourself and save money.

Another group of foods not to be avoided but to be used sparingly is fats and oils. Fats and oils are energy foods that add flavor and appetite appeal as well as extra calories to meals. They are used for cooking and baking, as table spreads and in salad dressings.

Fats are made from vegetable oils, animal fats or a combination, and are solid or semi-solid at room temperature. Butter, margarine, lard and shortening are all classified as fats. Butter is made from pasteurized cream and must contain 80 percent milkfat. Salt and coloring may be added. Whipped butter has air incorporated in it. It is easier to spread and has more volume. Butter is graded on the basis of flavor, body, texture, color and salt.

Margarine is made from vegetable oil, although some margarine contains animal fat; it too must be at least 80 percent fat unless the product is intended as a diet substitute. Margarine substitutes contain fewer calories and must be labeled imitation or diet. Whipped margarine also is available.

Shortening is a semi-solid fat usually made from vegetable oils. Some may contain animal fat, so read the list of ingredients to find out what kind of fat or oil is used. Lard is rendered from pork fat. Most oils are of vegetable origin and are liquid at room temperature. They may be used for salad dressings, marinating, frying and baking.

In the past, the choice of which fats and oils to buy was based on personal preference and cost. Now that saturated fats and cholesterol have been linked to various heart problems in some people, the source and saturation of the fat or oil may be a consideration when shopping.

Depending upon the degree of saturation during processing, most saturated fats are solid at room temperature and usually of animal origin. The exceptions are coconut and palm oils. Unsaturated fats are generally liquid at room temperature and have a vegetable origin.

of interest to VETERANS

The World War II generation, now mostly in their 60s, remain the largest group of war veterans nationwide. Next are Vietnam-era vets, mainly in their 30s. Korean War veterans, most of them now in their early 50s, are third. Those who served in World War I number fewer than 400,000, and most are 85 and older.

Government figures show Vietnam-era veterans will become the largest category nationwide within 10 years. They already are in Alaska, Hawaii, Utah and Georgia. By 1985, the Vietnam generation will be the largest veterans category in Colorado, Minnesota, North and South Carolina, and Vermont as well.

But even 10 years from now, World War II vets will remain No. 1 in such Sun Belt retirement states as Florida, and California. At present, California has more veterans than Kansas has residents, and upwards of 5,000 vets move permanently to Florida each month.

These trends cause concern in Congress and the Veterans Administration, which does not have the funds or facilities to provide the medical services elderly veterans need and are presently entitled to. Meanwhile, Vietnam-era vets feel short-changed in such areas as service-connected disability compensation and their inability to qualify for GI home loans because of high interest rates.

Veterans can get more information and assistance from any American Legion, Post or Veterans Administration Office. — Al Keller Jr., National Commander.

ORDINANCE 144
NOTICE OF AMENDMENT
OF FIRE PREVENTION

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF WADSWORTH, MISSISSIPPI, that the City of Wadsworth, Mississippi, on the 16th day of March, 1983, adopted Ordinance Number 144, amending the Fire Prevention Code of the City of Wadsworth, Mississippi, as prescribed by SSI-19-25, Mississippi Code of 1972.

JOHN LONGO, JR.
MAYOR

ATTEST:
BARBARA A. RAPPOLO
CITY SECRETARY

ORDINANCE NO. 147
AN ORDINANCE DECLARING IT UNLAWFUL TO TAKE DOWN, REMOVE, DESTROY, OBSTRUCT OR MAKE UNAUTHORIZED CONNECTION WITH OR TO ANY CO-AXIAL CABLE OR WIRE FOR THE TRANSMISSION OF TELEVISION SIGNALS AND PROVIDING PENALTY FOR VIOLATION THEREOF.

WHEREAS, there exists an immediate need for the protection of Cable Television (C.A.T.V.) Facilities in the City of Wadsworth, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, such provision providing for a penalty to be imposed upon violators is in the best interest of the public health, safety, and welfare of the City of Wadsworth.

THEREFORE, be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Wadsworth, Mississippi, that:

SECTION 1: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to take down, remove, injure, or obstruct, or make any unauthorized connection with any co-axial cable or wire used for the transmission of television signals, whether video or audio, or any part thereof, not owned by said person, firm, or corporation.

SECTION 2: Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than One Dollar, nor more than Five Hundred Dollars, and each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense.

The above Ordinance, having been read twice in writing and read and considered, section by section, at a public meeting of the governing authorities of the City of Wadsworth, Mississippi, on the 16th day of March, 1983, and the roll being called was adopted by the following vote:
